A WORD FROM THE PASTOR

Dear BSC-FPC Fam,

Boy is it good to be back. What a gift to worship with all of you on March 1, and to have staff be able to participate and catch a breath after a busy season.

I can't thank you all – members, staff, guest preachers – enough for coming together and giving me some time away. I am excited to continue to hear what you all have gotten out of the time and how it is shaping your senses of calling. Both for each individual and for us as a community.

For me, there was a lot of deep rest and healing, and some profound moments of inspiration around what the future of church could look like. Not just our specific church, but churches all over who seem to be choosing between how to stay sustainable and meaningful or leaning toward a Christo-tainment high occupancy model. There are likely other choices that God is revealing, but this is what I hear most.

I believe there are culturally relevant ways to deliver key messages of love and peace rooted in the teachings of Jesus, and continue to keep worship practices free and accessible and loving. As we explore what it might mean to offer paid for classes and workshops to the community, could we find a culturally relevant, gospel supported, new way for church to be sustainable? I intend to keep exploring this idea with session, members, experts, and anyone else who is curious. Further, a big grant has come to light that might be able to help get ideas like these off the ground.

Lots of possibility and prayer in the air. As the season of Spring gives life to new things, may we as well. As we celebrate resurrection this Easter, may we embody it. I hope you will join me in dreaming these dreams of meaningful and sustainable church models. First Pres long had a legacy of taking risks and being first to try new things – it has been proven again and again in the recent years. I hope and pray that Beach Street church continues that faithful legacy to be co-creators with Christ and seek God's will for our beautiful community.

Peace, Rev. Katy

GOOD NEWS FIRST

A Story of Hope from Church Records circa 1993.

First

Last week when I checked the church phone there was a voicemail from a correctional officer from a prison here in Florida. She requested the baptismal records for an individual who was baptised at First Presbyterian Church in 1993. The individual wants to take communion and be involved with the local church that visits the prison each week. I was able to search through the jump drive containing our old scanned records and find the Session Minutes from 1993 which listed this person's name and provided a record of his baptism. These were emailed to the prison. The correctional officer was so happy she called me again to thank me (and BSC- FPC) for making such a difference in this person's life and assisting in his road to recovery.
